Management Research Review (MRR) publishes a wide variety of articles outlining the latest management research. We emphasize management implication from multiple disciplines. We welcome high quality empirical and theoretical studies, literature reviews, and articles with important tactical implications. Published 12 times a year, the journal prides itself on quick publication of the very latest research in general management. FactSet’s research management solutions give you the tools to maximize the reach of your research. Collaborate, Communicate, and Maintain Continuity. FactSet's highly configurable and fully integrated research management tools ensure your research efforts grow alongside your business needs. Give your team the power to collaborate across disparate locations, ensure the security and continuity of your best thinking, and maintain the transparency necessary to comply with evolving regulatory regimes. Management Research Review - Volume 33 Issue 1 to Volume 44 Issue 8. Communication of emergent international management research. Issue(s) available: 139 â€“ From Volume: 33 Issue: 1, to Volume: 44 Issue: 8. Subject This list of management research paper topics is designed to be a reference guide for everyday business and management study needs for the management students, managers, business practitioners, or anyone interested in a better understanding of a business management term or concept. This page can be a first-stop for general information as well as a link to other management concepts, related terms, references, and information sources. The field of... Is management research a folly? If not, whose interests does it serve? And whose interests should it serve? Ironically, it is possible it will make it even more difficult to evaluate researchers’ contributions. Data used to be a constraining factor for organizational research. Gaining access to sufficient data to yield statistically significant results was often difficult, which encouraged researchers to use widely available sources such as Compustat or archives such as ICPSR.
